

We are not sure where the misunderstanding lies. In discussions on August 17, 2020 and September 18, 2020, we talked with Mr. Vlahakis and heard from him his concerns with the effect of the construction on the Dublin Square property. The full site plans, with detail, were publicly available, and reviewed and explained at the Planning Commission hearing on July 22, 2020 and on August 12, as well as at the City Council meeting on September 23, 2020. We have provided further details to Mr. Vlahakis through his attorneys and extended, again through them, a request to address the issues now that the revised plans that move the building away from his property are complete.

We apologize that we did not handle the discussion in the manner that Mr. Vlahakis preferred. We have been in contact with his attorneys again this week to review our recently-finalized plan and get his input. We are hopeful for positive outcomes and an amicable solution as we are going to be neighbors.
